Secret Draft · paper bidding rules

Give every player a bid tracker and matching bid scraps. Each starts with $20 in pretend party money and aims for 3 items. Choose enough distinct items to fill every lineup.

A dealer reveals an item. Eligible players write a bid within their remaining budget and reveal together. The highest bid wins and pays that amount. For tied top bids, draw a folded name slip among those bidders. Mark the item, spending, and balance on the tracker.

After winning an item for the current pick, a player waits until everyone has an item. The final eligible player receives that pick's item for nothing. Begin the next pick; stop bidding once all lineups are full.

Let each player pitch, then point simultaneously at another lineup. Rank by votes received, then party money left; exact ties share the win. No votes means no winners or points. Apply the scoring line below. This paper version has spoken reveals instead of phone timers.

+3 for the best lineup. +1 if you voted for it.
